Doris, 94, and Betty, 80, share sisterhood and widowhood

Doris and Betty are my role models. Doris made the difficult decision two years ago to sell her home of 60 years to move into an assisted living facility where her belongings now fit into one room. She said at the time, “My sons live far away and I have outlived all but two of my close friends...it was time to move.” Her move and adjustment were made easier because of her church family who assisted, visited, and provided transportation since she no longer drives. Making her own choices also helped her to adjust well.

Doris’ sister Betty lives independently, still drives, and is socially active. The church staff looks forward to her regular visits to help with the newsletter. Betty prefers the contemporary worship service because it’s easier to read the screen than the small print, heavy hymnbook. When her husband died, church members provided regular visits for as long as she needed them. Both churches began intentional elder care programs because of workshops on older adult ministry offered at presbytery leadership events and a monthly e-newsletter that provides models for ministry.

Older Adult Ministries of the Synod of the Mid-Atlantic is dedicated to ministries with, by, for, and to older persons and their families. Your contributions to the Mother’s Day/Father’s Day Offering support a variety of activities designed to assist congregations in their efforts to meet the growing spiritual, physical, and social needs of older adults and their families.
